The exterior of the galzery, the altar, and other parts of the Temple were draped in black. The ushers and delegates from various Hebrew societies were badges of mourning. Notwithstanding the disagreeable weather the large building was completely filled with members of the congregation, delegates from various societies and other congregations. The immediate mourners, consisting of the aged widow of Dr. Einhorn, three sons, five daughters, and four sons-in-law, were seated in the front pews. Among the Hebrew clergymen in attendance were the Rev. Dr. Deutsch, successor to Dr. Einhern, in Baltimore; the Rev. Dr. Samuel Hirsch, and the Rev. William Armbolz, of Philadelphia; the Rev. Dr. Schlesinger, of Albany; the rabbis of the various congregations in this city and Brooklyn; among them, the Rev. Dr. Gottheil, of Tempie Emanu-El. Others present were Jesse Seligman, President of the Hebrew Orphan Asylum; the Rev. Dr. A. S. Isanes, of The Jewish Mes-senger; Coroner Moritz Ellinger, ex-Coroner Herrman and Charity Commissioner Hess. Shortly after 9 o'clock the rose-wood coffin containing the body was borne into the Temple, and carried to a beer before the altar by twelve palishearers. A beautiful floral design was placed on the coffin. The bearers were president F. Kurzunan, vice-president Bellium, and the secretary and treasurer of the Temple Beth-El, and four ex-presidents, J. M. Stein, Samuel Goodman, S. Herrman and S. Semmenn. The others were Messrs, Schuler, Katzenberg, Stern and Schlesinger. During the passage of the palibearers through the Temple the organ sounded a solemn requiem. A functal song was then sung, and the Rev. Dr. Emit Kirsch made a prayer. The Rev. After the singing of two hymns the coffia was placed in the learse and removed to Machielah Cemetery. On Samuay at 4 o'clock special memorial services will be neid at the Temple Both-El, at which culorizes will be prenounced by a number of prominent rabbis of this city.

19. Einhorn was born in Dispel, Bavaria, January 10, 1800. From his minetecation to his twenty-fifth year he was a student at the Universities of Manich, Erlangen, and Wurtzburg. He was connected for a time with synagogues in Mecklenburg-Schwerin and Brhenfeld, and later was pastor of the Reformed Congregation at Posth, Hungary. In 1855 the Emperor of Austria from positical causes closed the synagogue, and Dr. Emborn came to America. He first settled in Hallmore, and left that city for Philadelphin at the breaking out of the Rebellion, as he was opposed to stavery. In 1868 he removed to New-York and took charge of a Hebrew society, which, uniting with Ansar-thesed, formed the Society of Beth-El. He was retired in July of this year owing to his advanced age.

THE ACTION OF A BANK RECEIVER.

The Congressional Committee appointed to inquire into the affairs of the Ocean National Bank. of which T. M. Davists receiver, resumed its business yesterday morning at the Grand Central Hotel. Charles P. Crosby, of Fullerton & Crosby, testified as to the old sait brought to restrain the receiver from selling the bonds of the old Lake Superior Ship Canal, Railroad and Iron Company. Some correspondence between Bank-Examiner Meigs and Contreiler Knox was then read, in which the former wrote that after making inquiries in Wall Street he had reached the conclusion that the bonds of the Lake Superior Company had no market value at all, and if Davis got $100,000 for them he did well. William L. Hovey said that he visited England in 1875 and in 1877 to get English capitalists inter-ested in the reorganized company. The outbreak of the war between Russia and Turkey caused negotia-

the war between Russia and Thrikey caused negotiations to fail through.

Arthur W. Sherman testified as to his examination of the bank's accounts in the absence of Davis and when the latter was a stranger to hua. Out of the whole, amounting to $1.846,779.70, he found a difference of only $6 between his and the receiver's figures. This balance was in the receiver's favor. The legal expenses of the receiver in the suits growing out of the robbery of the bank had amounted to $34.571.30, and his other legal expenses were $32.471.13.

At this point Receiver Davis said, in answer to $200,000 due to depositors in the bank, including 70 per cent of interest. One-half of the depositors had relinquished all claim to excess of interest, leaving about $100,000 due. There being no witnesses present, the Committee then adjourned until 10:30 to-day.

The thirty or more children left the building crying and lamenting. Two more performances had been advertised for this week. E. H. Harvey, musical manager, said last evening; "Wednesday afternoon while our performance was going on, a gentleman, who proved to be the president of the Society, entered the room, viewed the stage for a moment and then came behind the scenes where I was. He said the performances clearly came within the act, as the children were under fifteen years of age, and warned me that they must be stopped. He would listen to no reason. The proprietor of the Aquarium and I went to see Mr. Bergh about the matter. As he had been here and knew the character of the performance, he assured us that we would be permitted to carry the engagement through; he guaranteed that much, promising to communicate at once with the officers of the Society. Our surprise, therefore, was complete to-day when we received this notice."

AN UNFAITHFUL WIFE SHOT.

Mrs. Catharine Madill, who was shot by ber husband, John Madill, in Oliver-st., Wednesday evening, is at the Chambers Street Hospital. She may live several days, but cannot recover. Madill was committed to the Tombs yesterday by Justice Morgan. Both husband and wife are natives of thus city. They have been married eight years and have three children. For several years past their life has been wretched. The woman pawned her children's clothes to obtain drink, and the man was of an ira-cible and jealous temper. About two montsh ago Madill, upon receiving convincing proof of his wife's infidelity, brought suit for divorce. More than once he threatened to kill her. The story of the murder is thus told by Mrs. Mary Jane Reilly, a friend of Mrs. Madill: "Between 9 and 10 o'clock Madull came in the room without his hat and looking like a crazy man. He had a revolver in his hand and was drunk. Not seeing his wife in the sitting-room he went into her bed-room and fired at her twice, saying 'I'm soing to kill you anyhow,' I ran out of the house for fear of my life, and Mrs. Madill followed me crying out, 'Oh, Mary Jane, do call an officer.' I said I couldn't find one. She ran up toward Oak-st., and when near the corner received a bullet in the back of her nock and fell forward on her face. Madill then ran down Oak-st. toward Catharine and was arrested by Officer Barrett before he could escape." children's clothes to obtain drink, and the man was

ENFORCING TE 3 CENTAL SYSTEM. The managers of the Produce Exchange, at their meeting yesterday, considered the request of the grain trade to discontinue the use of the cental system, and passed resolutions declaring in substance that the Produce Exchange had committed itself in favor of the system too far to withdraw; and that the movement is in the interest of trade and in full accord with the system of decimal coinage, and one which, when the inconvenience at-tending its introduction shall have been overcome, will commend itself to the judgment and support of the mercantile world. Therefore it was commanded the mercantile world. Therefore it was commanded that all transactions in grain hereafter made, and falling due after Junuary 1, 1880, should be in conformity with the cental system.

Yesterday, at the first call, J. H. Herrick announced the action of the Board. The call on Janhary options was proceeded with on the basis of the cental system, but there was very little trading. A few operators showed a desire to continue the system, but it was generally treated with indifference. The only sale made was 4,800 centals of No. 2 corn at $1.0740. By Sawyer, Wallace & Co. to Bingham Brothers.

Hartis and Andrews in turn occupied the chair. The business of the meeting was wholly devoted to making appropriations for foreign and domestic missions. The amount to be contributed was fixed at $600,000, and the following additional appropriations were made: For India, $60,000; Balgaria, $10,498; Italy, $22,520; Mexico, $30,000; Japan, $27,000. Making a total for foreign missions of $264,016. The appropriations for domestic missions amount thus far to $249,516. The meeting adjourned to reassemble at 10 elock this morning and will probably finish its business by noon.

building was made, after which refreshments were served.

The Temple is 85 feet high, 30 feet wide and 100 feet deep. It is built of Baltimore brick, the cornices and trimmings being of Dordester stone, and the basement front of granite. It will be completed by the 1st of February, at a cost of $60,000. The amount so far expended has been raised entirely by contribution from the German Free Masons of the enty. Thom and Wilson are the architect. The futerior of the building contains a lecture room, three lodge rooms and a dining room. The latter is in the basement, and the others occupy successive stories. The finishing is of ash and charry. A fair to raise additional funds will be opened in the Temple next Monday, and will continue three weeks.

RELIEVING THE DESTITUTE. The New-York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor has issued its thirty-sixth annual roport. It shows that the amount of suffering from want has been greatly lessened by the increased prosperity of the community. In New-York, Pennsylvania, Obio, Michigan, Wisconsin, and Rhode Island, paup rism has begun to decline since the hard Winters of 1876 and 1877. The cost of relieving the poor has apparently reached its maxmum, and is decreasing in most States. Massachusetts is still the most afflicted in regard to the number and cost of her public poor, in proportion to the whole population. Her only r val in this unenviable distinction is New-York. The total number of families relieved in this girl during the year. enviable distinction is New-York. The total number of families relieved in this city during the year was about 5.000, many of them twice. The amount of relief afferded was $21.600, or an average of about $4 for each tamily. The report says that these figures contradict the exaggerated statements made every Winter about the vast multifude of persons who are in want in the metropolis, and prove that the usual number of the destinute is not starmingly great. Much space is devoted in the report to improvements in the homes of the poor.

RAPID TRANSIT ON THE WEST SIDE. The extension of the Metropolitan Road from Onebundred-and-thirty-fifth-st, to the Harlem River at One-hundred-and-fifty-fifth-st., has been completed, and in a few days will be opened to the public. Yesterday afternoon a special train carried the directors of the company and a number of invited guests over the entire road from the Battery to the river. Stations at One-hundred-and forty-filth-st, and at the northern terminus are being rapidly pushed to completion. The track of the Metropolitan Road is to be extended from Morris-st, to join the Greenwich Street Road, and then all trains for the Sixth Avenue Line will be made up at the Battery. Passengers from the Battery will be transferred at Morris Street Station of the Ninth Avenue Line, if they desire to take that road. Additional track accommodation is to be provided at Morrisst, by the removal of the building owned by the Loan Improvement Company fronting on Greenwich-st., and all trains for the Ninth Avenue Road will be made up at that point. The work of rebuilding the old Ninth Avenue Line is advancing rapidly, and it is anticipated that the improvement will be completed by January 1. guesta over the entire road from the Battery to the

The police captains of this city were instructed for "a girl fourteen years old, four feet and nine mehes in height, and slender, with small features, healthy complexion, fine dark brown bair, usually braided and banging down the back, and wearing a plain crimson merino dress and sack and a dark circular cloak." The name of the missing girl has been kept a secret by the police officers to whom the fact of ber disappearance was communicated. Her father is said to be a wealthy business man in this city. Some of the circumstances surrounding her recent flight from home are said to indicate that she was abducted. Two colored servants left he father's house the day sue was missed, and detectives who were sent after them traced them to Vir ginia. It was stated vesterday that the girl had been found and returned to her parents, but the police refused to give any information about the

IRVING, THE BURGLAR, IN CUSTODY.

Superintendent Walling on Wednesday received a letter from the Chief of Police of Philadelphia, enclosing a photograph of a man who had been arrested in that city in company with a noted thief named Logue. The appearance and actions of the man, the letter stated, led the Philadelphia police to believe that he was a well-known criminal. The superintendent recognized the photograph as that of John Irving, of the Patchen-ave, gang of burglars, who escaped from the Raymond Street Jail in Brooklyn, on Jane 1, in company with William Porter, who was reartested and returned to the Jail recently by Detective Wade, of the Tenih Precinct. The Sheriff of Brooklyn was informed of the recapture of Irving, and went to Philadelphia yesterday to get him. A DISPUTED TRA SACTION IN GOLD.

The suit of William Reade against Luther C. Clark and the other members of the firm of Clark, Dodge & Co., to recover an alleged balance on a gold transaction which occurred ten years ago, was begun yesterday in the Superior Court before Judge Speir and a jury. The plaintiff averred that the defendant obtained from him on September 20, 1869, gold coin of the face value of $50,000 and a market value of $68,750; that there still remains due over and above all offsets and payments the sum of $12,250. Juagment for this amount is therefore demanded. The defendants say that the gold coin was borrowed for sixty days under an arreement that the plaintiff should make good any decline of gold during that time. There was a decline, and on October 5, 1856, a settlement was had on the basis of the market value of gold on that day. In consideration of a final settlement being made on that day instead of watting until the sixty days were expired the plaintiff agreed to pay the defendants $4,000 in addition to the repayment of the $65,750 for the return of the gold coin. The defendants channed that this $4,600 had not been paid and that, therefore, instead of a claim of the plaintiff against them, he still owed them $4,000 with interest since October 5, 1869. The case has not been concluded. Barrett & Redfield appear for the plaintiff; Burrill, Davison & Burrill for the defendants.

The complainant, soon after entering into business relations with Kerr, ascertained that he advertised frequently for pupils to be taught the art of Photo-Greecian painting, and by that means a number of girls were induced to call on him. These he pretended to teach, requiring $4.80 from each to pay for paints, and promising them employment at $10 per week when they were acquainted with the business. He never performed his promise, but discharged them on some pretext. The further hearing was set down for Thursday next.

Til-den, in getting up his reputation as a reference, offended Tanimany, which is a tumor on the body politic, and therefore cannot unite his party. The Democratic party does not take kindly even to the pretence of reform. But if Tilden cannot carry New-York, what Democratic can do it? Tilden and Thurman baying walked the plank into the deep sea, weere are the great Democratic leaders? Are Bayard, Peudicton and Hendricks to seep to the front?

THE SPELLING OF NATION SETTLED.

THE SPELLING OF NATION SETTLED.

From The Troy Times (Rep.)

The people appear to have awakened from the lethergy of the past, and as the rebet brigadlers sat in Congress and fulminated their threats against the Government and the laws, the old fires of patriotism were rekindled, and New-York sends back the suswer that she will have one of Tilden, so she will have no more of Confederate rule in the Government, and that she speaks Nation, which our fathers established and for which our brothers fought, with the higgest and tallest kind of a letter N.

THE PEOPLE'S OWN WORK.

The great significance of this Republican re-The great significance of this Republican re-vival is that it is spon-ancours. It has not been made by any man or set of men, and can be chalmed by none. Instead of the people lying apathetic, waiting for some great leader to awake them, they have taken he matter into their own hands. And as the movement has not been created by any man, so if will not depend on any person, but will go forward with irresistible force and will place in the Presidential chair any well-known Re-publican whom the deliberately expressed opinions of

From The New-Haven Register (Hem.)
The defeat of Robinson in New-York is a serious blow at the poducoi prospects of Samuel J. Tilden. This cannot but be regarded as a misorrume to the Democratic party. If he retires from the canvass in 1880, where can the Democrats expect to find a leader, brave, keep, farsighted and politically balanced enough to take his place!

A FORETASTE OF 1880.

Prom The Evoton Transcript (Rep.)

The blood of the people is up for the Presidential campaign. The stuped Bourban Democracy have precipitated the exottement, and given the old war tunes and ensigns a fresh lease. Anyhody who gets aboard the old time-of-battle-sing that went into commission in 1860 will come out shead; for the people know that ship the minute they see it, whoever may be its officers, big or little, and whatever their capacity or characters.

WANTED: A UNITED FRONT.

From The Rochester Union and Advertuer (Dem.)

The duty of the present hour is to re-form our broken ranks, and, again presenting a united front to the enemy, march forward to certain victory in the coming Presidential campaign upon which haugs the destiny of the country and of the people for generations to come.

coming Presidential campaign upon which hangs the destiny of the country and of the people for generations to come.

JOHN KELLY, DICTATOR,

From The Kengdon President (Kep.)

The result disposes of the hopes of Tilden and brines John Keily to the front as the dictator of the Democratic party. Whether the party will submit to his leadersulp remains to be seen. It is likely that there will be further contention and disorganization. But Mr. Kelly has proved his strength and influence, and decreafter will be able to command a following not to be despised. The Kelly bolt is one of the most remarkable political episodes in the history of the State, and will be referred to in nature as on a par with that of the Barnburners in 1848.

Robinson is beaten in New-York, and this ought to lines braten in New-York, and this ought to lines briden, and would if times were what they used to be—that "when the brains were out the man was dead;" and yet we don't not this Banquo's ghost will still claim his place at the banquet, point to his bloody wounds, and endeavor to push better men by these elections. Is still rolling on without impediment, cutting clean through the from California to New-York, shaving close along Mason and Dixon's line, where only it is stayed by an impassable barrier.

THE HEART OF THE PEOPLE STIRRED. It is like the mighty loyal uprising of 1861the same in impulse, be same in meaning, the same in irreststible power. The great heart of the people is stirred to its profoundest depths. It is the swedling tidal wave of patriotism sureing and sweeping over the new front of Confederate assault.

NO MORE DEAD PAST WANTED. The lesson of the election is plain. The Democracy of New-York must present a united front to the common enemy it it describes to recover control of the State of to save the Federal Union from the clutch of Radicalism. We must let the dead past bury its dead.

NEW-YORK ALL RIGHT. NEW-YORK ALL RIGHT.

From the Rechester homeonal and Chronicle (Rep.)
New-York elects a Republican Governor and a Republican Governor and than that of 1879. The practical effects of victory are with the Republicans of New-York, as they are with the Republicans of New-York, as they are with the Republicans of the Union, and, if wis action is hereafter had there need be no fear that New-York will faiter the accent bulle that anymaches.

A PATHETIC WAIL FROM WATTERSON.

From The Louteville Courter-Journal (Jona.)

We may be sure that the self-seeking and the biundering which have brought about this needless disaster, and wolch, in too many case, may be supposed without injustice to take a secret delicant in it, will not resolve themselves to any definite policy. They will express themselves variously. There will be booms and booms, we shall have a Davis boom, we shall have a Bayard boom, we shall have a Davis boom, we shall have a Field onom, we shall have a Hancock boom. There may even be in a small way a Hendricks boom, clividing its little time with a Kelly boom—in the West, Hendricks and Keily; in the East, Kelly and Hendricks. In short, each cock will crow from his own particular duughill, diling the air with a clamet from whose dissonance and din but a single accordant note shall be heard, and that in dispraise of the only man who is guiltess of an act or word to distract his party, and known chiefly through his sacrifices and benefices. To this complexion has it come at last, and we are asked to abandon a leader who gave us a National victory, and to follow the leaders who have wantonly throws that victory away. There are many good and true men lo the Democratic party who are worthy to wear the purple—outably, Semator Bayard, General Hancock and Mr. Justice Field; but there is no one of them who ever will or ever can reach the White House over the dead body of Mr. Tilden.

THE VERDICT OF THE PEOPLE.

From The Philadelphia Public Ledger (Ind.)

It is the answer of the country to the folly, infritantion, not to say wicked disregard of the interests of the country displayed at the last session of Congress, and to the sine against public and private fusice in some of the Southern States; and it is their decree that such proceedings must be stopped.

such proceedings must be stopped.

WHAT THE VOTE OF NEW-YORK MEANS.

From The Boston Tweelier (Ren.)

One of the more gratifying results of Tuesday's work is the election of Alonto B. Cornell as covernor of the State of New-York. This mass the Empire State out of the very short list of doubtful States in the North. It is a rebuke of the action of Congress in its attempt to seize the control of the Government. It is an intimation that the continuance of a "Solid South" will result in a "Solid North." It is a verdict seamst the injustice suffered by the negroes at the hands of the ruling population of the South. It is a vandication of an housest and capacic efficial, and an honorabe citizen at the hands of a constituency from whose verdet there is no appear, and a condemnation of that harrow and selfiss cique that have attempted to rulin where they were not permitted to rule. Finally, it has closed the political coffin of Samuel J. Titden, and screwed down the lide.

Only twelve walkers appeared on the track at the Rink at 11 a. m. yesterday. At noon the score stood: Harriman, 184; Faber, 184; Armstrong, 174; Walker, 179; Noden, 180; Dana. 158; Preuss, existing. The revulsion in 1879 has its root in a cause equally distinct, which is a distruct of the capability of the Democratic party for general administration, and alarm at their recklessness of speech and action, and a fixed determination net to drift away from the principles which have carried the country through all its

P18A. The contest of the will of Caroline A. Merrill, who left the bulk of her large estate to Cardinal McCloskey, was begun before Surrogate Calvin nearly two years ago. She lived in Paris and other cities of the Continent for several years, and in order to support the averments of unsoundness of mind it has been necessary to obtain much testimony by commission from abroad. This has prolonged the contest until the present time, and the first bearing after an intermission of several months was nad before the Surrogate yesterday. There are fifteen or sixteen confestants, most of them nephews excepting George Merrill, the adopted son, who is the principal contestant. He has come from Paris, where he lives and practises law, to attend these sessions of the case. He was represented by John E. Parsons, and other contestants by F. Gebinsed and Homer A. Nelson. Ex-Judge Porter appeared for Cardinal McCloskey, and David McClure for the executors. No witnesses were Ex-Judge Porter appeared for Cardinal McCloskey, and David McClure for the executors. No witnesses were examiced, but Mr. Parsons read the depositions of several witnesses taken in Paris in behalf of Mr. Merrill. The testimony of Mis. Clara B. de Réan gave in detail many pecuniar acts of Mrs. Merrill while they were to getner in Paris. The most important point was the repetition of a conversation in watch Mrs. Merrill said that she could not inderstand now any one could change his religion.

The deposition of Mrs. Sarah Burgogni, wife of a hotel-keeper at Pisa, Raiy, gave more interesting details. Mrs. Merrill frequently lodge dat their fine. Her mode of dress was peculiar. The dress she wore at lable d'hole was old, and mon her head ordinarily was an unty head-dress like a night-cap. He petiteonis were tastened up so as to show snabby boots. Her appetite was excessive, and she are food and drank champagne sufficient for two men. Generally she drank a bottle of champagne at dinner. The guests often inquired who that extraordinary woman was. She took with her to Rome a young woman in the hotel, for whom she had cenceived a finey. Mrs. Merril told the deponent that she "hated the English, and that if a war broke out between England and America she would arim a man-of-war herseli to fight the Britishers." She would always become any if she could not win at cards. She said frequently that few women of high rank were respectable, and and an idea that most of the women at table d'hole were bad characters. On the occasion of the coming of Prime Leopold anyhow, I woule like to know I Tain as good as he. I am Mrs. M. W. Merrill.

Catano Burgogni, the husband of the preceding witness, deposed that he frequently played cards with Mrs. Merril with a she retused at has to accept him as a partner because he would not pass trumps under the table to her so that she could do the so finilar character. More depositions will be read to-day.
